MARCIA CLARK, "Looking North," Blue Mountain, 530 West 25th Street, (646) 486-4730 (through April 27). From travels to far north sites in Alaska, Canada and England, the veteran landscape painter's views of mountainous wilderness are rendered with a deft, flickering touch on pieced together sheets of frosty Mylar. Unlike framed small sketches, the Mylar works, pinned to the wall and extending irregularly in horizontal and vertical directions, have a panoramic expansiveness well suited to the vast and awesome subject matter (Johnson).
